Panama City Beach Community Association Management Company Earns Top Industry Professional Designation

Edgewater Beach Resort Management, Inc., the management company for The Resort Collection of Panama City Beach, recently joined the elite group of community association management companies who have earned the Accredited Association Management Company (AAMC) designation from the Community Associations Institute (CAI). Edgewater Beach Resort Management, Inc., is one of only 140 management companies nationwide who have earned the highest level of professional recognition in the community association field.

Edgewater Beach Resort Management, Inc., manages a total of 1664 condominium units, including 53 commercial units. The accreditation process took more than two months to complete. "This was a great exercise for our staff; the accreditation process is in depth and challenges you to look at the way you operate," said Mike Wray, vice president of association management.

CAI is a national organiza-
